Spring Anticipant

We've been working on writing, recording, and planning for launching the publication side of our work (at the top is the small version of our logo for Braeded Chord Productions). In a way, we feel a bit like those daffodils before they've emerged—a lot of our work seems "underground" and unseen, yet we are excited as we anticipate the results. We're over halfway through the recording of our fifth project, and feeling pretty good about how it's turning out. We're also making plans to attend the national convention of Lutheran musicians in Seattle this summer, going as exhibitors for Braeded Chord Productions.

We do have a couple of dates for April, so if you're in the area we'd love to see you!
